Today, at this very moment, 18 American nationals are rotting in Fidel Castro's infamous LaCabana prison. In fact, there are at least 500 other Americans under virtual house arrest inside Cuba. But what's even more frightening is that in Russia, North Korea and Red China, the communists have kept hundreds of our GI's in secret prisons for more than 15 years!

Some men call it the "wheel," and just look blank when told about it. Others cry hysterically upon learning that they are being taken there and cry themselves to sleep every night afterwards. And innumerable strong men have walked into it and left as withered, grotesque corpses.

The place? Cuba's infamous LaCabana prison. Situated inside an old fortress overlooking Havana, LaCabana is circularly shaped like a bicycle wheel with its 14 long, damp dungeons leading to a single brick-walled compound in the center. Prisoners in the first 13 tunnels are periodically forced to strip naked and then, regardless of their health, stand in the compound during a drizzling rain and listen to an indoctrinator's lectures on the evils of "counter-revolutionary activity."
